It's not too often that we enter into a project like ours and have a work crew as understanding and cooperate as you guys have been. Over the past three and a half months or so, I have gotten to know all of you pretty well and truly appreciate how hard you have worked for me and my company in spite of the long periods of time that you've had from your homes and families. I have never once asked a question and had an off color answer, I have never once asked for something to be done where all of you haven't stopped what you were doing to accommodate me.

I really think you guys are a credit to American Laundry Systems and I hope you know that I truly appreciate each of you, the quality of work that you performed for us and the long term friendships that I hope we have developed.

Good luck and best wishes to all of you and I hope that we meet again as time goes on.

Sincerely,

Tony Barbato
